

Ordering Articles and Books through Interlibrary Loan

Need an article or book that the library doesn't have in its collection?

The library's Interlibrary Loan (ILL) service is your source for these requests.

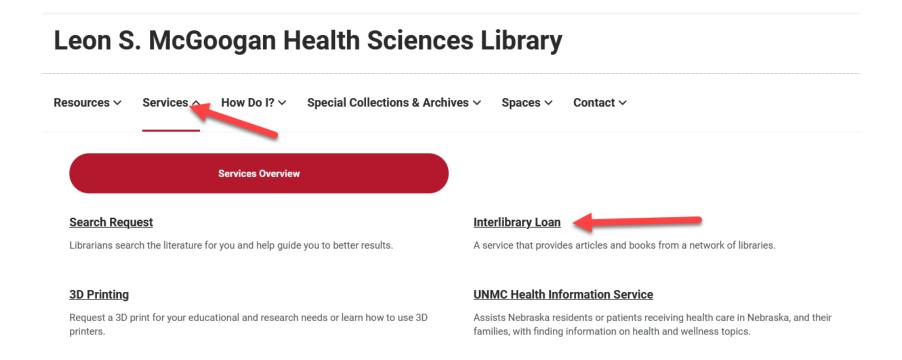

98% of our requests are for digital materials and are delivered to your ILL account either the same day or up to two business days, on average.

When you search for articles in UNMC databases, you can make requests for them as you go.

How do I access ILL?

The system used to request and deliver ILL materials is located in the Services tab on the library's home page, labeled Interlibrary Loan.

Logging in

Regardless of the method that you use to request an item, you will log into the ILL system by entering your UNMC Net ID and password.

WARNING CONCERNING COPYRIGHT RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of articles or other reproductions of copyrighted materials.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish an article or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the article or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research". If a user makes a request for, or later uses, an article or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use", that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Due dates for loaned books are determined by the lending library. Renewals are available in most cases.

For book requests, we investigate ebook options, but at the present time, most publishers do not permit ebook ILL.

Same day requests (M-F) are available for emergency or urgent situations.

The ILL system cannot process batch article requests (e.g. 10 articles in a single click) and should be made individually.
